It was the freshmen cadets against the upperclass officers in the ROTC war games held April 19. Here a group of cadets move in for action.

SC Candidates To Be Aired On Close-Circuit Television

"Meet the Candidates" will be aired May 1, Thursday, on the campus closed-circuit television to make the candidates for Student Council offices better-known to the students.

The program is being sponsored by the Instructional Media Department in conjunction with the Election Committee of the Student Council.

All candidates for the offices will have a chance to participate. The candidates for secretary, treasurer, historian and reporter will be given three minutes each in which to state their views. The candidates for vice president will have four minutes with the presidential candidates getting five minutes.

Afterwards there will be a 30-minute panel discussion with questions being asked of the candidates by a panel consisting of Don Cetrullo, Bob Goldsmith and Brenda McFall. Lee Moore will be the moderator.

"There is definitely a communications gap," said Dr. Tant. "Maybe this will help the students make their wisest choices."

Sen. Cooper To Speak In Button Thursday

Sen. John Sherman Cooper will be the principal speaker for the fifth annual International Relations Day, sponsored by the Morehead State University Political Science Club. A convocation will be held in Button Auditorium, Thursday, May 1, beginning at 10:20 a.m.

Sen. Cooper, Republican from Somerset, is Kentucky's senior senator. He began his career in 1946. In relation to the topic of his speech, Sen. Cooper has served as U.S. delegate to the General Assembly of United Nations 1949-50-51, advisor to Secretary of State Dean Acheson, London and Brussels meetings 1950, NATO Council of Ministers.

At noon, an informal luncheon will be held for Sen. Cooper at the Alumni Tower cafeteria for those wishing to meet Sen. Cooper.

The political seminars will be held in Breckinridge Auditorium beginning at 2 p.m. Speakers are from the U.S. State Department. Speaking on NATO will be Robert Gould from NATO and Atlantic Political Military Affairs. Speaking on the Middle East will be Robert Paganelli from the Office of the Country Directorate for Middle East States.

Carter, Bradford To Debate Issues On WMKY-FM

Bill Bradford and Darrell Carter meet each other in a taped debate tonight on WMKY-FM.

The two candidates for the Student Council presidency were heard live at 3:30 today and a rebroadcast of the debate can be heard tonight at 11 p.m.

WMKY-FM has also tentatively scheduled a debate between the two vice-presidential candidates at 3:30 and 11 p.m. this Thursday.

Both debates will be moderated by Mark Jordan and will last 30 minutes.

Bloodmobile Will Be Here Tomorrow

The American Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Laughlin Fieldhouse on Wednesday, April 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There was a lack of donors at the last meeting, due to a schedule conflict within the MSU vs. Murray game. There is now an especially critical shortage of blood in the blood bank. Quentin Hatfield, campus chairman, encourages all students, faculty and staff to give blood.

15 Candidates Run For Student Council Offices

Fifteen candidates are seeking offices on the Student Council.

After today, the number will be lowered to 12. Primary elections are being held today to narrow the number of candidates seeking the offices of treasurer and vice president to two for each office. Presently four candidates are running for vice president while three candidates are seeking the office of president.

Final Student Council elections will be May 6.

The candidates and some of their views are as follows:

President

Bill Bradford, the current Council president, is seeking reelection to that post.

Bradford, a junior, says, "The future of the student body and their Student Council depends on the responsibility of those involved to propose, discuss and legislate. Therefore, the continuance of an administration responsive to the student is the important issue. The constitution can no longer be an issue, for work on this document will continue as planned, and this can only work if the parties are interested. My campaign will be on my record, and the achievements which have been made under my administration."

Opposing Bradford is Darrell Carter, a junior from Morehead. Carter says he is running to give the students a choice. He says the Council must evaluate its actions rather than continue without a real goal.

Vice President

Glen Coatney, a junior from Dayton, Ohio, is seeking the office of vice president. Coatney says that past vice presidents have not done much.

"The job is what you make it," he says. "As junior class representative, I feel I have made my presence known and served my constituents." He said as vice president he will continue to do so.

Also seeking the office of vice president is Larry Knipp, a junior from Olive Hill and a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon. He said his campaign is "based on the idea of hard work. This is my basic purpose for entering the campaign. I plan to be a vice president that is completely open to criticism and complaints of the students."

William A. Scheid, a junior from South Plainfield, N.J., is also seeking the office of vice president.

Scheid said the Student Council is not representative of the student body. He said the Student Council should offer open sessions where the students can participate.

Tim Dominique, a sophomore from Alexandria, Va., is running for vice president. Dominique, who is a member of the Campus Club, says his plans, if elected, are to "support the president in his policy, listen to and work for the will of the student body, and add my own constructive ideas to the Student Council. In short, as vice president of the Student Council, I would do my part to share in the work of the president and work to make the office of vice president a do-something office."

Secretary

Kay Ludwick, a sophomore from Highland, Ohio, is running for secretary. Miss Ludwick, a member of Alpha Sigma Rho, says she realizes the outstanding job Brenda McFall, the present secretary, has done. She said, "I will try to fill the shoes of her. I like to know what is going on on campus."

Pat Terry, a sophomore from Frankfort, is also running for secretary. A member of Alpha Gams, she could not be reached for comment.

Treasurer

Connie Ankrom, the current Council treasurer from Williamson, W.Va., is seeking reelection to that office. Miss Ankrom, a junior, says she has enjoyed her work and responsibility this year and feels with the experience of this year she is well qualified to continue the job next year.

Rich Herihly, a junior from Peekskill, N.Y., is seeking the office of treasurer. Herihly, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, is a business education major. He says he feels this business background makes him well qualified for the post.

"I think the students need to know more about the finances of the student government," he said. "No one should be permitted to purchase things without the approval of the treasurer and the Council as a whole. . . this has not always been the case."

Dale Adkins, a freshman music major from Louisville, is running for treasurer. He could not be reached for comment.

Reporter

Taskell Ross, a junior sociology major from Louisville, is seeking the office of reporter. Ross, a member of the Trail Blazer staff and the Raconteur, staff, said "with my experience in the field of publication, I am aware of the many channels available for use to inform students of Council activities."

Steve Jamison, a junior from Louisville with an area in business administration, is also a candidate for reporter. Jamison, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, says he is running because he feels "student government needs people who are interested in providing services to the students . . . The Council needs more public relations. We need a column in the paper to let the students know what is going on. I hope to increase student awareness of Council and campus activities."

Historian

Bud Wooten, a junior from South Shore, is running for historian. Wooten, a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, says he will dedicate himself to do a good job.

"I have observed in the attitudes of past Council members," Wooten says, "an apathetic air. I intend to help make next year's Council a stronger and more effective Student Council."

Sharon Maggard, a junior from Lexington, Ky., is seeking the office of historian. Miss Maggard, a member of Chi Omega, says she is running because she feels "a record of the actions of Council is essential and definitely an asset to future Councils. I also run to have a voice in the matters that directly affect the students. While serving part time on the Council this year, as a representative of East Mignon Hall, I have gotten insight into just how important the Council can be. I feel I know what being a representative of the students can mean."

What Helped Gayle Most? 'Just Coming To College'

By Brenda McFall

"It really didn't hit me that I had won until the next morning," said Gayle Lyon, the new Miss MSU. Gayle was crowned in the second annual Miss MSU pageant held on April 19. She will represent the University in the Miss Kentucky Pageant July 24-26.

A senior at the University majoring in speech and drama, she says that her future plans may include teaching high school but that she can't be positive. She also would like to continue modeling on the side.

When asked what helped her the most to be prepared for the pageant, she said that just coming to college had given her the opportunity to meet more people and to accept different kinds of people.

"In college you open yourself up and become yourself and this is what judges look for in the interview."

Gayle described the period leading up to the pageant as being one of much work for her in getting her talent ready. She has been taking dancing lessons since she was three. Gayle said she had said that at first she wasn't going to try out for the title, but when she was voted by her sorority to be their candidate, she began to work and continued up to the moment of the pageant.

"I went home every weekend and then I practiced at Laughlin every day." This might not seem too much but the only time she could practice was at 7 a.m. every morning.

Gayle said that one thing that was really great about the pageant was that there was so much polished talent this year.

"I didn't cry," said Gayle, "you're so happy, but you have to try to keep your composure." Now she's just looking forward to her year as Miss MSU, and she said the work has already started.

The new Miss MSU, Gayle Lyon, takes her victory walk down the aisle at the Miss MSU Pageant April 19.

Flowers were set at various places on campus during Spring Break to beautify the campus. Here Kay Newman, a junior from Washington C.H., Ohio, helps beautify the flowers.

DramaFraternity Will Present 2 Original Plays

By Terri Bonar

A new fraternity is now on campus — and they are presenting short plays on Friday, May 2. Theta Alpha Phi, a national honorary theatre fraternity newly instituted at Morehead this year as Kentucky Alpha, will feature its select members as the authors, directors and actors in this production in the Little Theater of the Combs Building at 7 p.m.

The plays to be presented are "Ozymandias" by Bill Hammack and "Evening In Topaz" by Michael Chapman.

"Ozymandias" concerns itself with Cryptus Greene, an introspective type character who is attempting to rationalize his suicide. The suicidal contraption, an invention by the author, adds an interesting twist to the "bored rich man" theme.

Greene will be played by Dennis Williams. Igor, a hippie who has "misplaced his purpose," is played by De Stewart, who is also directing the play. Doug Whitson portrays Thomas Fraley, a character who is left for the audience to analyze the course of this two-act. Whitson is not a member of the fraternity.

Family Problems

"Evening In Topaz" is a one-act drama which takes place in a Kentucky coal mining town in the late 1940's. This play shows the disintegration of an American family. The central character is the mother, (Gayle Johnson) who tries to keep this family together. Her family consists of her late husband Josh (Gus Perrison III, who is also the director), and her two daughters, Jo Anne (Sandra Fugate), the married daughter and Julie (Terri Bonar) the only daughter still left at home. Duane Hahn plays Julie's boyfriend, and John Cannon plays Charlie Taylor, a next door neighbor.

34 ROTC Cadets Are New Members Of Army Group

Thirty-four Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets at Morehead have been initiated as members of the MSU Company of the Association of the United States Army.

Brig. Gen. Charles H. Hollis, commanding general of the U. S. Army Training Center at Fort Knox, presented the new group's AUSA charter to the company leader. Cadet Major Robert S. Williams, Lexington junior.

General Hollis, principal speaker at the organization's installation banquet, stressed the importance of the college ROTC program in producing Army officers.

He commended the MSU administration for securing a new ROTC program last year when only 15 were created from more than 100 requested.

Dr. Feelgood's Medicine Show Jug Band performed at Funlinger's Follies last Thursday night.

Council Talks Constitution; What Sex For Class Members

Discussion of a new constitution took up most of last Tuesday's Student Council meeting.

Council members seemed to agree that officers of the Council should not have a vote in the Council legislative branch under the proposed new constitution.

On another constitutional issue, Council voted 12 to 11 against specifying that the two class representatives from each class should be of opposite sexes. Under the present Constitution, the representatives from each class must be of opposite sex and it has been proposed that this continue in the new constitution.

Senior class representative Frank Cunningham said he saw no valid reason for this. In the vote, a majority of the girl representatives voted for keeping the stipulation in the new constitution, while most male representatives voted against the stipulation. The vote is only an opinion vote and is not final.

Darrell Carter suggested that instead of the freshman steering committee chairman heading the freshman class, the class should elect a class president and do away with the steering committee. Carter, who was chairman of the freshman steering committee his freshman year, said he could see no use for the committee and by having a president, the class would feel equal to the other classes. The new constitution proposes to do away with all class officers except president.

Dormitory Representation

A lengthy discussion was held over the apportionment of dormitories. The new constitution proposes dorms be divided into A, AA, and AAA dorms in an attempt to get a more equally apportioned representation on the Council. While most Council members seemed to favor the idea, they could not decide on how it should be done. No definite plan was decided.

In other action, Janet Risner and Chuck Lee were appointed to investigate why the printing office was slow in getting its orders filled. Jim Starr read a letter from Theta Chi complaining about the delay in the printing of the club's order for invitations. The club asked Starr to ask the Council to investigate the reasons behind this and other delays.

The Council gave power to the movie subcommittee to select the next movie and passed a motion to hire a combo to backup Peaches and Herb.

Funlinger's Follies Success Crowd Stands For Creekers

By John Cannon
Managing Editor

Sometimes the best talent is in your own front yard.

The Student Council Entertainment Committee presented some of the best talent that they had presented all year last Thursday night.

Where did they find it? Right here on campus.

Funlinger's Follies, formerly called the Student Council Talent Show, proved that indeed there are some very talented students on this campus.

The three-hour show seemed to please the audience of about 700.

Of the 19 acts, several had that something extra-special that makes them outstanding.

Two Ovations

Standing ovations went to Jennifer Jefferson and a group called "The Creekers."

Miss Jefferson is a four-year veteran of Student Council talent shows. Her vocalizations of "Say a Little Prayer for Me" and "This Girl's in Love with You" well deserved the ovation they got.

"The Creekers" are also veterans of the talent show. They are three gentlemen, Steve Gantz, Benny Bullock and Al Couch, who have tremendous voices both individually and as a group. Their five songs, which included "Going Out Of My Head - Can't Take My Eyes Off You" and "By the Time I Get to Phoenix," literally captured the audience. I could have listened to Miss Jefferson and "The Creekers" all night and not feel the least bit slighted.

However, no account of the talent show could be complete without mentioning "Dr. Feelgood's Medicine Show Jug Band." The band's unusual style of performing had the audience in an uproar each time they were on stage. The second time they came on stage, they performed dressed as ladies, which goes to show some people will do anything for a laugh.

Like Laugh-In

The jug band also performed three park bench scenes similar to those seen on Laugh-In. Two of them were corny and funny, the third I thought to be in bad taste for it made fun of the handicapped. Besides, it wasn't funny. The band and other cast members performed on the joke wall which was ribald and funny.

Also adding humor to the show was Janie Mason and Jerry. Mrs. Mason is an outstanding ventriloquist, whose material was funnier Thursday than any time I have ever seen her. I have never seen Mrs. Mason perform when she did not thoroughly please the audience.

Masters of ceremonies for the show were Brad Jones and Calvin Settles. Jones' talents seem to be endless. As emcees, Jones and Settles on the show were clever and kept the show moving. However, at times they upstaged the acts performing on stage, which was a little rude.

Backing up the show was the University Stage Band. After hearing the band at the Miss MSU Pageant and talent show, I am a devoted fan of theirs. They are not being too fabulous, especially on "Norwegian Wood."

Some Missed These

Performing with the band, was the Intimate Circle of Friends. The worst thing concerning this group was they only performed before the show and during intermission when not everyone could hear this outstanding group.

A special award, the Appalachian Band of Futility Award, was awarded for the first time to the University social clubs. To commemorate the occasion the jug band sang a song dedicated to social clubs.

A complete review of the talent show would include comments on Bill Mearns, Doug Hanewinkle, Mike Baker and the other performers, which helped to make the talent show a success, but unfortunately I am limited in space.

Council Attendance Is Most Important

This is the busiest time of the year for the Student Council. It is considering a new constitution and has spring elections to set up, along with its other routine business.

Yet at the last few meetings more than 30 per cent of the Council members have been absent. Many who are not absent feel they must leave if the meeting lasts past 6 p.m. In fact, the April 1 meeting of the Council was ended with an important resolution still on the floor because so many members had left the meeting and a quorum was lost. The April 15 meeting nearly ended the same way.

By being absent at a Council meeting or leaving before the end of a meeting at this time of year, the representatives are doing more than cheating their constituents of their rightful representation. They are possibly affecting the Council's future.

A new constitution has been discussed in the Council for years, but now when one is being introduced to the Council, many representatives do not even bother to be present.

Representatives must realize the importance of the Council's actions at the present and must realize that some meetings will probably last more than an hour so they must plan to remain for the entire meeting.

Admittedly Council meetings are not always the most interesting way to spend time. The Council often dwells on what seem to be minor points. Also, some representatives do not seem to take their positions seriously and make "funny" remarks that have no place in Council and only make the meetings that much longer.

Other representatives may miss the meetings because they feel the Council has no true power, but by missing the meetings they are helping destroy what power the Council does have.

At this important time of the year there should be no excuses for missing a Council meeting.

APATHY

From College Hight's Herald, Western S. U.

We, Too Are Champs

Recently we read in the Murray college newspaper that Murray was OVC Basketball "champions" for '68-'69. Comments from students on our own campus have also been made along a similar vein.

It should be pointed out that Morehead tied Murray for the conference championship. We later lost a playoff game to determine the NCAA tournament representative from the OVC. But both schools will receive first-place trophies. We are co-champions with Murray.

Council President Should Be Paid

On May 6, students will elect a Student Council president. As things stand now the person elected will serve without pay.

This position is vitally important to the success of the Student Council—Hence to the students. Yet we find him serving the students only in his free time, leaving him no time to hold another job.

After taking office, he is placed in a position of great responsibility with the only reward being a pat on the back.

This is not the situation at Eastern, Murray and Western. Apparently this problem is solved at these schools through financial aid from the school. At Eastern the president of the Student Government has a choice of a $100 scholarship per semester or his dormitory room free.

While at Murray the president gets all his fees paid and the vice-president gets his tuition paid.

Western, in addition to the president getting his tuition free, he also has a full-time secretary to handle office work.

This is better than not getting paid at all, but this also raises the question of the administration having too much to hold over the student president's head. University President, Dr. Doran says he would be opposed to a situation where the administration would hold such power over the elected student body president.

A more favorable solution would be to take so much out of the Student Council operating fund from the "head tax" to pay the president.

Both Darrell Carter and Bill Bradford, candidates for SC President, say this would be agreeable to them.

This is a problem that is going to be more apparent as the student body increases, and the size is already at the point where such a proposal should be considered and put into operation for the coming school year.

Reader's Viewpoints

Knocks Editorial

Dear Editor:

Upon reading the April 22 issue of the Trail Blazer I was thoroughly disheartened to see the editorial board's stand on the University's newly adopted speaker policy. As a former member of the Trail Blazer's editorial board I cannot understand their view and I feel I must respond to it.

Morehead can never become a progressive college community by adopting such a myopic viewpoint about what students should or should not be allowed to hear. Of course the Trail Blazer did point out that the policy was written by committees with student members as well as administrators and faculty. This makes it even harder to understand. Why do certain students feel that they must please only the higher administrative echelon of the University and not the common student who can only benefit by being exposed to outside speakers?

One of the guidelines for rejecting a speaker is simply if "his presentation would serve no worthy educational purpose." Who, might I ask, judges what is a worthy educational purpose? I say it is the students, and only after they have been exposed to a speaker's viewpoint. Also I believe it is an insult to an educated and noted speaker to question whether he can contribute to "a worthy educational purpose." This in itself is enough to frighten any reputable intelligent person from wanting to speak at Morehead.

This policy was written, adopted, and then approved by the Board of Regents without any consultation with the general student body, whom the policy will most obviously affect.

I might add that our "so called" Student Council supported, and even in a written letter, the administration's policy. I also noticed that the students who supported the policy are the same ones that decided to spend the student head tax for the movie "Frances and the Talking Mule," along with kiddie cartoons to be shown on a Saturday afternoon. I wonder if this is the Council's answer to the lack of guest speakers?

Note Error

Dear Editors:

It is our hope that in the future issues of the Trail Blazer you will not make any more mistakes concerning the names of the Greek organizations on our campus.

In your April 22 issue, you unduly gave credit for a charity project to Tau Kappa Epsilon when it should have been given to Tau Alpha Epsilon.

We feel these men did a fine job and should be congratulated for such a fine effort.

Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Ed. Note: We apologize to Tau Alpha Epsilon for this error. It was just one of the unfortunate mistakes that often appear in newspapers. We agree that TAE did indeed do an outstanding job on the march.

It was only 25 years ago, we were told that we weren't as smart as our parents. Today, we are told we aren't as smart as our kids. Something must have gone wrong somewhere.—John Maverick

Debaters Deserve Congratulations

The Trail Blazer congratulates the Morehead Debate Team on its impressive success this year. The Debate Team, one of the campus groups we rarely fully appreciate, has carried the name of Morehead State University to all parts of this section of the United States.

The team, debating the topic, "Resolved: That Executive Control of the United States Foreign Policy Should Be Significantly Curtailed" has won ten trophies and 22 individual speaker awards.

The name of Morehead State University is known and respected in Michigan and West Virginia where the team won first place at the University of Michigan and Morris Harvey. In Ohio, Morehead captured the first place and third place trophies at Manchester.

In its home state, the team has captured first place at Ballantine College, second place at Western and at Louisville, and most recently, first and second in the state tournament at the University of Kentucky.

The Kentucky State tournament was more of a victory for the team than most persons realize. The novice team competed in the "C" division for first and second year debaters, captured second place.

The varsity team, composed of two sophomores, Don Cetruolo and Craig Martin, won first place in the "A" division, the first time any sophomores have won in recent years.

Where are all these beautiful trophies? At the present time they are sitting on the file cabinets and desks in the debate office.

It seems to us, that the team should have some place to display their hard-earned awards. Mrs. Julia Webb, the enthusiastic debate coach, says a request for a trophy case had been made. With a little money and labor, a beautiful case could be put in on the first floor of the Combs building, replacing the inside wall, (along the hallway) of the debate office.

The best debate team that Morehead has had in the past several years, deserves more than an occasional mention in the paper, and a "closetfull" of trophies.

Incidentally, although you may go hatless in the south, Chicago's health commissioner, Dr. Morgan J. O'Connell, urges men to wear hats in winter weather. It not only reduces the possibility of colds and flu, but avoids drying out natural hair oils.

The Good Old Days

by John Cannon

Everyone at some time or another has heard an old timer talk about the "Good Old Days." I used to think it was all just some fellow getting nostalgic. But now I have changed my mind. For though I am only 20 years old, I can remember the "Good Old Days."

Remember the Good Old Days? When one could buy ten pieces of chewing gum for 10 cents? Now you can only get a measly eight.

Remember when candy bars cost a nickel? Although you can still buy nickel candy bars, they are not near the size they were when I was a kid. One candy bar commercial brags that it's product is the thickest bar, but it fails to point out that it is also the shortest.

Remember the time when the plastic covers that you buy for term papers cost 19 cents? That was way back in 1967. Now they cost 25 cents, which is a 33 per cent increase in two years.

Remember when TV cartoons were funny? What ever happened to Felix the Cat, Quick Draw McGraw and Donald Duck? With the outstanding exception of Bullwinkle, today's cartoons are for the most part as serious as "Peyton Place."

Remember when Captain Kangaroo was not the only decent kiddie show on commercial television? I grew up to be the decent all-American boy I am today only with the help of the guiding hands of Pinky Lee, Howdy Doody, Aunt Fann, and the Mouseketeers. I wish some producer would attempt to revise the Mickey Mouse Club. I'm an honorary member to a defunct club as it now stands.

Remember the time, when you could walk into any public restroom and use all its facilities for free. The day of the free restroom is quickly fading from the American scene. This can really be a problem when you are out of dimes.

Remember the days when quarters were made of silver?

Remember back when seeing a fifty cent piece was nothing unusual? Remember when the New York Yankees were the kings of baseball?

Remember the days when there was peace in the world? (I don't.)

Yes, time and inflation has changed the world greatly since the "Good Old Days" when I was a kid, about five years ago.

Jay and the Americans will perform in concert in Laughlin Health Building May 8. The concert is sponsored by the Student Council Entertainment fund and is free to all fulltime students.

About Those Boys Dorms

In several earlier columns, while discussing the various aspects of campus life, I happened to casually mention Mignon Tower in a way the residents there interpreted as "derogatory" to themselves. Several of those who took offense asked, "Why don't you say something about the boys dorms for a change?"

There is really not much to say about the men's dorms, but if I were to describe them, speaking individually, I would describe:

Regents Hall as a sophomore-inclined dorm whose residents get their kicks by watching the married couples pull their blinds.

Wilson Hall as a staggering group of highly educated "grease monkeys" whose one aim in life is to put a 327 in a wine bottle.

Cooper Hall as an overlooked dorm made up of poets and wets whose desire in life is to get into another dorm.

Butler and Mays Hall as a dorm supposedly for freshmen but partly made up of late-entering upperclassmen, who suddenly decided they liked their 2-S classification.

Waterford Hall as a dorm in the "boondocks" comprised of eager freshmen, whose time-consuming ambition is to make an accurate count of the binoculars in East Mignon.

I have not mentioned Alumni Tower because you cannot describe anything perfect. In further elaboration I would say that a dorm is only as good as the residents making it up, therefore we who live there must be perfect.

Some people might say I could get killed for describing the boys dorms in this manner, but I feel the guys on campus have a more liberal sense of humor, as opposed to the conservative attitude taken by many coeds.

I suppose that I could make an insane apology for my remarks that would placate the Mignon Tower females, but I think it is unnecessary. I hope the girls in the Tower realize that as seniors I evidently consider them to be something special; otherwise why would I continue to think about them?

Bill Harrell Is Named New Basketball Coach

Bill D. Harrell, assistant basketball coach at the University of Nebraska, has been named head basketball coach at Morehead State University.

Harrell, one of the most successful coaches in the annals of Kentucky high school basketball, will assume his duties within the next few weeks. He has been at the University of Nebraska for two years following an 11-year high school stint during which time he won 244 games and lost only 82, captured the Kentucky state championship while at Shelby County in 1966, and was named "Coach of the Year" in Kentucky in 1965 and 1966.

"With the fine basketball tradition which Morehead State University has established," Harrell said, "I am indeed very fortunate to have the opportunity to accept this most challenging position."

He added, "My lifelong ambition has been to become a major college coach, and now that I have that opportunity I will devote my every waking moment to being a successful coach."

From Pike County

The 40-year-old is a native of Pike County and holds the AB degree from Kentucky Wesleyan College and the MA degree from the University of Kentucky. He began his coaching career at Belfry High School in 1952 and moved to Berea High School in 1954. From 1956 to 1960 he was director of campus activities at the Methodist Home in Versailles and returned to coaching in 1960 when he took the Shelby County job.

"Coach Harrell is one of the finest young basketball minds in the game today and meets every criteria we established when we began our search for a new head basketball coach," said Dr. Roscoe Playforth, chairman of the Faculty Committee on Athletics.

The Faculty Committee on Athletics approved Harrell's appointment Wednesday following the unanimous recommendation of a four-man joint search committee made up of representatives of the Athletic Committee and the Administrative Council. Members of the search committee, who were named following Bob Wright's request to be granted a sabbatical leave to begin work on the doctorate, were: Dr. Playforth; Bob Laughlin, Dr. Adron Doran, and Dr. Ray Hornback.

Hard To Choose

President Doran said, "A large number of distinguished coaches indicated an interest in the position as Head Basketball Coach at Morehead State University. It was extremely difficult to choose among these outstanding individuals."

"However, in selecting Mr. Harrell," Dr. Doran added, "I think the Athletic Committee made a sound and wise judgment. I shall recommend that the Board of Regents approve the selection of Mr. Harrell to begin his duties on May 1."

Dr. Doran said, "Bill Harrell is one of the most successful coaches in Kentucky and the nation. His training and experience will add greatly to the sound program of athletics in Morehead."

Laughlin calls Harrell "A likely choice for the position who has been a highly successful high school coach and has gained valuable experience in the college ranks while at the University of Nebraska. We are excited about his acceptance of this position and look forward to working closely with him in the days ahead."

Harrell's freshman team at the University of Nebraska had a 9-3 record this year and a native Kentuckian had an opportunity to establish numerous contacts throughout the midwest and south as a result of his recruiting activities.

Harrell is the author of "Championship Tested Offensive and Defensive Basketball Strategy" published in 1967 and coached the United States All Star team in the Dapper Dan Classic in Pittsburgh in 1966.

Hemmerle Wins

In the Intramural Archery Tournament, Bob Hemmerle, an Independent, finished on top, beating out 71 other participants for first place. For the three distances involved, 20, 25 and 30 yards, Hemmerle accumulated a total of 136 points.

Eagles Down Marshall In Cold Afternoon Meet

On a cold, gray afternoon last Wednesday, the Eagle track team defeated Marshall 79-62. The field events proved to be Morehead's strong suit, as the Thundering Herd got behind early 36-14, the homesteading Eagles won all of the field events with the exception of the pole vault.

The individual standout for Marshall was speedy Steve Rule, a sophomore who won two events, finished second in the 100-yard dash, ran in the 440 yard relays and then somehow had enough energy left to run another lap in the final lap of the day, the mile relay.

Rule won the 440 with a time of 49.9 seconds. He also broke the tape in the 220, nipping Morehead sprinter Dennis Hursey by a couple of yards in the closest race of the day. He was timed in 22 flat.

The Eagles showed a definite weakness in the distances, finishing behind both of Marshall's milers. With the loss of their finest endurance man, Phil Hardin, the Eagle trackmen also did poorly in the grueling three-mile run. The two Herd entries set a fast pace and again came in 1-2 easily.

Hardin is said to have quit the team due to back trouble.

Top Eagle long jump and triple jump man Phil Schardin won both events easily.

Aquila Club Wins Intramural Track

The Aquila Club defeated five other teams to triumph in intramural track and field championship. The Aquila's finished the meet with 52 points.

Totals for the other teams were: TKE - 35½ points; Sigma Chi Alpha - 23½ points; TAE - 21 points; CK's - 18 points; and Theta Chi - 11 points.

Baseball Team Wins 3 Of 4

The baseball Eagles won three of four games of the two home doubleheaders played this weekend.

Friday, against East Tennessee, Morehead defeated the Buccaneers 18-2, Jim Martin picking up the win. The Buc bouncers back to win the second game 5-3.

The Eagles captured both ends of a twin bill against Tennessee Tech Saturday, clobbering them 13-2. Mike Punko's three run homer in the first inning of the opening game got the team rolling. The Eagles went on to score another run in the first and added six in the second inning to give South Paw starter Dan Dennis plenty of support.

Morehead romped in the second game. The Buc pickers allow seven hits but issued 10 walks.

In the second game Gary Pauley clubbed a homer and a single and catcher Steve Dunder punched out 2 singles and a two-bagger.

Eagle starter Miller lost a shut out in the sixth inning when Buc catcher Adams smacked a triple for the Buc's runs.

Upward Bound Goes To Prison In Kentucky

Upward Bound, a war on poverty program designed to spur bright young people to attend college, is "going to prison" in Kentucky.

It's wrapped up in a new name and it's aimed at different youngsters, but its goals are much the same - to inspire young people with high potential to get further education.

The new program is called Project Newgate and it will be set up for 40 youths who are inmates at the Federal Youth Center at Ashland, Kentucky.

The Ashland project will be directed by the University with a grant of $100,042 from the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

Kentucky's program will be patterned after a similar program pioneered almost two years ago at the Oregon State Penitentiary, which has reported promising results.

Inmates at the Ashland center are serving short-term sentences for minor felony offenses, generally involving such things as interstate mails or travel. The inmates are aged 16 to 21; the average school grade completed is seventh grade.

Forty of them, specially selected because of their college potential, will take part in Project Newgate. All are now working on high-school equivalency diplomas.

The project will include six hours of academic classwork each day plus another two hours to be devoted to special work on a subject or interest field of the student's choosing.

Teachers and tutor-counseling will be available evenings and on weekends to assist youngsters who need more help in their classwork.

Additionally, personal counseling will be a feature of the program in an effort to develop self-esteem.

The Kentucky program is the first to be granted funds by OEO. The first was in Oregon, although it began as an Upward Bound program. The second was in New Mexico, financed earlier this month.

OEO spokesmen call the success of the Oregon program "amazing thus far."

To date, according to OEO, only four of 41 participants released from prison have been accused of repeating crimes. Twenty-one others, however, are enrolled in college.

The remaining 16 released from the Oregon institution after Newgate training are either employed or involved in vocational training.

12 Area Seniors Awarded New Science Scholarships

Twelve seniors from nine high schools have been awarded new competitive, academic scholarships to Morehead State University.

Four-year, two-year and one-year grants were made in the fields of mathematics, physics, chemistry and biology, it was announced by Dr. W.C. Simpson, dean of the School of Sciences and Mathematics at MSU.

The scholarships, starting this September, were based on competitive examinations administered March 29 on the Morehead State campus. More than 100 seniors participated.

Get 4-Year Grants

Recipients of four-year grants valued at $800 included Roger E. Gillum, Sandy Hook, mathematics; Ricky Dulin, Rowan County, physics; Carla Snell, Covington Holmes, biology; and Shaw Peng Wan, Louisville Atherton, chemistry.

Second place qualifiers receiving two-year awards worth $400 were Donald L. Linville, Somerset, mathematics; Paul Matney, Elkhorn City, physics; Charles Johnson, Grayson Prichard, biology; and Lloyd D. Hargis, Rowan County, chemistry.

One-year scholarships valued at $200 were presented to David R. Edmondson, Mount Sterling, mathematics; Terry Isont, Sandy Hook, physics; Gary Lewis, Rowan County, biology; and Larry A. Davis, Bourbon County, chemistry.

Seniors given four-year and two-year grants must maintain a 3.0 grade average in their major area and a 2.5 overall to remain eligible for the scholarships each year.

The scholarships consist of waivers of semester tuition fees at MSU. No cash awards are made.

Woodrow W. Barber, assistant professor of biology, is chairman of the honors committee in the School of Sciences and Mathematics.

Louisville All-Stater Signs

Roy Simpson, a 6-7½ All-State forward from Louisville Seneca High School, has signed a letter-of-intent to attend Morehead State University.

A 192-pounder, Simpson played only seven games last season before becoming ineligible because of the 19-year-old high school age limit. He scored 138 points and averaged 16 rebounds a game during that period as Seneca was undefeated.

Simpson captured All-State honors during his junior year, averaging 20 points and 16 rebounds a contest. He helped lead Seneca to second place in the state championship and a 28-4 record.

Although he played only an abbreviated season in 1968-69, he was named to some all-state and all-region teams.

"Roy's chances of playing college basketball are tremendous," said Seneca coach George Unsel. (brother of Baltimore, Bullet Westley Unsel). "He is a bonafide player with a good variety of shots. He is a deadly shooter from anywhere within 20 feet, and he is a good rebounder and passer."

New basketball coach Bill Harrell has already praised the eager, saying, "We need boys like Simpson. The OVC is a very tough league."

Ag Scholarships Deadline Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the deadline for applying for three scholarships to be awarded by the University Agriculture Department.

The one-year scholarships will pay the regular University registration and incidental fees for each semester of the freshman year.

High-school seniors wishing to apply must: declare a professional interest in agriculture; rank in the upper one-half of their graduating classes; have a vocational agriculture teacher or high school principal write a letter of recommendation; and maintain a 2.50 standing in college subjects.

The selection committee will be composed of members of the Agriculture Department faculty.

Connie Vater, the only girl graphic arts student at the University, catches a line of type that she has just cast at the linotype machine. The 48-year-old machine is very temperamental, and "it always gets contrary when I'm in a hurry," she said.

University Coed Plans Career As A 'Stripper'

Connie Vater, a cute blonde, is attending Morehead in preparation for a career as a "stripper."

A quick word of explanation is in order: A "stripper" is a person who prepares negatives for plate making in the offset method of printing.

Miss Vater, a freshman from Alexandria, Ky., is the only girl taking graphic arts courses at Morehead. She currently plans to complete a two-year graphic arts program for an associate degree, but she would like to take further training in the art of printing before entering the field.

She is now taking two graphic arts courses and learning to operate a stubborn Linotype machine. She will also take courses in color and design and offset lithography.

Temperamental Machine

Edward Nass, assistant professor of industrial education, says the 48-year-old Linotype machine is temperamental like a woman, but Connie feels that it plays no favorites because she is a female.

"I agree that the machine's like a woman," she said. "It is subject to changing its mind at any time, and it always gets contrary when I'm in a hurry."

In addition to learning to operate the Linotype machine, a keyboard-operated machine which casts lines of type, Connie has learned how to handset type, how to set up printing forms, a few photographic principles, and how to operate some letter presses, including the Original Heidelberg and the platen press.

She has printed letterhead stationary, business cards, and a two-color post card. She also had an exciting experience with a Virkotype, which embosses letters.

Burst Into Flames

"One day I was making some business cards on the Virkotype when some paper fell into a collecting tray and burst into flames," she said. "I thought I had caught the whole printing shop on fire but some of the guys helped me put the fire out."

There are always a lot of men around to help because Connie is the only girl in all of her graphic arts classes.

"Sometimes it's rather embarrassing being the only girl because I feel like I'm in the way. The guys seem to guard their language, but after almost two semesters they are getting used to my being around and refer to me as one of the guys," she said.

When she first started taking graphic arts classes, she had an embarrassing moment. On the first day of class, she followed the men out of class, thinking they were leaving the building.

"I was almost in the men's rest room before I noticed where they were going," she said. "After that, I was careful where I followed the guys."

To Advertising Field

Connie plans to enter the advertising field after completing her program.

"I will probably take some advanced training after leaving Morehead," she said. "I feel that I will then have as good a chance as most guys at landing a good job in industry."

"I advise other girls who are interested in art but are not great artists and not interested in teaching to try graphic arts," Connie said. "Right now there is not much competition from other females, and I would like some female company in my classes."

University Awarded Grant To Continue AABEDC

The University has been awarded a federal grant of $400,000 for a 12-month continuance of the Appalachian Adult Basic Education Demonstration Center (AABEDC) on the MSU campus.

The funds were supplied by the U.S. Office of Education and will enable the center to operate for the third consecutive year. More than 200 such grants were requested nationally but only Morehead State University and 27 others were funded.

Created under the Adult Education Act of 1966, the Morehead center is set up to improve adult basic education in Appalachia by developing experimental, research and demonstration projects.

The AABEDC currently sponsors nine special projects in seven Appalachian states; Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Ohio, Virginia and West Virginia.

Executive Director George W. Eyster expects the new funds to allow expansion of existing programs and addition of new projects in three other states with counties within Appalachia.

Morehead State's AABEDC presently has two Kentucky projects - an Adult Basic Education Learning Center in Lewis County along the Ohio River and an experimental program of computer-assisted instruction in mathematics which has been made available in several Eastern Kentucky counties.

The Appalachian Adult Basic Education Demonstration Center at MSU is supervised by the university's Department of Research and Development.

Blue Key Hears Murdock Tell Of Christian Problems

By John Cannon
Managing Editor

Father James Murdock, Morehead Catholic priest and history instructor at the University, says most people want an absolute religion with all its standards being proven, while in all other fields they do not expect such perfection.

Speaking at a meeting of Blue Key National Honor Fraternity last Tuesday, Murdock said most intellectuals are skeptical about religion. They say, "I want to believe, I would like to believe, but I just can't."

He said Christianity, like all religions, creates a problem. "We don't know what to do about mystery." He said with today's explosion of knowledge it is difficult to rationalize many facets of religion. "Every age rethinks what is learned," he added. "The teachings of the church are gradually modified. We rethink and redefine what God is and what religion is."

Today more and more intellectuals are alienated from religion, Murdock said. He said he believes the intellectual, knowing the vastness of the field he excels in and seeing the many sciences involved in religion, doesn't see how he could possibly begin to investigate all the sciences in order to have a clear understanding of religion.

"The intellectual is troubled by being an atheist and skeptic but doesn't see how he can be a Christian," Murdock said.

He said today we can be more benign to the atheist. The non-committed intellectual has led to what Murdock calls the "anonymous Christian."

He said a man may accept God in other terms. He said a man may see the order of the universe and accept certain things as part of it but can't accept God.

"When we find ourselves with conditions we cannot buy with traditional religion, how can we live out the here and now as Christians?" he asked.

Murdock's solution was if there is something you cannot totally accept, place a parenthesis around it and "don't knock your head against it." Chances are, he said, it cannot be explained because of historic conditions.

He said we should move on to something that is more positive. Intellectual people are selective. He said we should realize some positive truths and not worry about the parentheses which are probably not significant in the entire scope of things.

"To study any one of these parentheses would take a man a lifetime," Murdock said. "And then he would only have theories."

Gov. Nunn Selects Norfleet For Blue Ribbon Committee

Dr. Morris L. Norfleet, vice president for Research and Development at Morehead, has been named by Gov. Louie B. Nunn to a "blue ribbon" committee that will select elementary and secondary schools for the Outstanding Educational Innovation Award.

Gov. Nunn established the award to "encourage the improvement of educational programs in Kentucky" and to "recognize and commend those public and private schools which are striving to improve the quality of education."

He described innovative programs as "those which involve a change within the school that aid the teaching-learning progress." He said this may involve the areas of organization, curriculum, materials, and methods in the school. It may be a new idea or the creative adaptation of ideas already in use, he added.

The 25-member committee, composed of educational and civic leaders, will be divided into five-member judging teams for each of five districts. The teams will select a top elementary school and a top high school from among applications in their respective districts. The district choices will be considered for state awards, which are to be given at a Governor's dinner May 19.

Final State selections will be made by a judging team composed of a member from each of the five district teams.

Beginning Debators Prepare To Give Area Demonstrations

Beginning debaters are preparing to give demonstration debates in nearby high schools. They have received an invitation from Bath County High School for April 30. Bob Kinzel, Ken Hines, Mitchell Garrett and Denny Taulbee will be participating in this forensic session.

The varsity debaters gave three demonstration debates on three levels at St. Thomas High School in Ft. Thomas, on April 19.

The debaters are presently involved in making recordings of various lectures on debates. These will be used for novice teams next fall. Some of the lecture topics include "Debate Procedure," "Research," "Note

Taking," "Reasoning," "Refutation," "Rebuttal," and "Cross Examination."
